Patchogue Psychic Named Best on Long Island

Cindi Sansone-Braff receives honor in Island-wide poll.

Hers is a story of success through a lifetime of learning, a soulmate found and a career path taken.

This path brought Patchogue resident Cindi Sansone-Braff to her current status as Long Island Press, Best of L.I. Number One Psychic on Long Island for 2011 and author of the book Grant Me a Higher Love: How to go from the relationship from hell to one that's heaven sent by scaling the ladder of love.

It all started when Sansone-Braff, who owned a children's entertainment business many years ago, was asked to read tarot cards for a party. She went for it and read as many books as she could about tarot -- about 15. After applying what she learned from the books to people, she quickly learned she had a talent for the mystic realm.

"The universe said, 'let's give her a little power and see what she does with it'," Sansone-Braff said.

Then, two years ago Sansone-Braff decided to become a full-time psychic medium.

"A psychic is like a telephone. You're able to pick up on messages from people that have crossed over," Sansone-Braff says of being able to communicate with the deceased.

This talent also helped her deal with the passing of both of her parents earlier this year.

Now, Sansone-Braff has concentrated much of her efforts in this realm to helping parents who have lost their children to heroin. She calls heroin a major problem on Long Island, and one that many people do not acknowledge.

From heartache to linking hearts, Sansone-Braff says that while she can communicate with the deceased, it is the living that usually keep her schedule busy.

"Most people visit me about relationships," she said.

Sansone-Braff says most of her clients want to know about their current relationships and whether or not they will find love at all.

Offering love advice to one young woman, Sansone-Braff said, "People stay in bad relationships because they don't have to heal." Sansone-Braff calls this "toxic love," when relationships bring out the worst in us and do not push us to heal.

In fact, Sansone-Braff wrote a book about love and relationships and found herself "soulmate love"-- as she calls it in her book -- when she met her fiance.
